In Memory of
Kenneth Bissett
1967 - 1988

120 East Hartsdale avenue,
Hartsdale N.Y. 10530

Dear MARVEL COMICS,

Ihhave always thought that MARVEL COMICS was the best comic company around.I like your wide selection of great comics,and I like your originality.By originality,I mean Reed Richards,the Human Torch,the Hulk,and countless others. I have always thought that your artwork was the greatest around.I also watch the MARVEL Men,because it's got great plots.But one thing annoys me.You xkwaxx often depict robots as "bad guys."

A few months ago,I dreamed up some robot good guys and put them in my class newspaper.One was the underdog,Phason, and the other was the Ultra-Strongman,Utonic Man.He's a robot,but a good one.He features Utonic power,and sports lasers of every sort.He has a voice like a Cylon,and through his Proton matter converter,he can change his identity to anybody.His eyes have infra-red,radar,and regular vision. His brain system is pre-programmed,so he can't be brainwashed. Also,it can determine an enemy and his plan.Also,it can determine anything from the circuit of a computer to conversion from conventional to metric.His force field can deflect anything exept his own strength,or stronger.His strength is google^{100}0 universes with google^{100}0 galaxies with google^{100}0 constellations with google^{100}0 planets with google^{100}0 beings on each google^{100}0 times the strength of google google^{100}0

OVER→

Hulks.His bodily armor is pure Utonicized diamondite.The only thing that can shatter it is strength such as his or stronger.His foes are primarily space robots or teams of robots.

His "personality" is like that of Ben Grimm;he will make up names and flush his enemies out with them.He's alert and foolproof to tampering.But don't worry.The Hulk's still the strongest living being.Utonic Man is a robot;he's not alive.Therfore he's the strongest being.He is trained to do any job.And so comes the height and weight of Utonic Man.His height is 6'11".His weight is 279 lbs.He is somewhat friendly to good huys but to bad guys,.....well,he's rather un-friendly.I know that it's rather unorthodox to have a robot as a good guy.Many say that,"robots don't have feelings,so they are tyrannic."Well,I say phooey.Utonic Man has a programmed cicuit for feelings.He is sometimes sad,when he loses or somebody who he is friendly to dies.When he wins,he is happy.I once thought up a story where his partner,Phason sees that Utonic Man is losing a fight with a huge robot,Procron.Phason jumps in trying to subdue the monster,but his smaller strength is no match for Procron.Procron effortlessly rips Phason's head off and throws it through a door.Although Phason is a robot,his circuits are irreplacible.In other words,he is gone forever.Utonic Man sees this and is filled with a mad,savage,rage. He yells,"You -@+!&¢ odor-eater headed &$!+@?¢=-!,brainless mass of $#!+!!!"(How's that for feelinglessnes?!)With that,Utonic man rams his fist through Procron's body.He then swings Procron one way, while bringing his arm around the other way.His arm and Procron's head meet,shattering Procron's poor head into uncountable fragments.

Utonic Man can be repaired easily if he is somehow damaged.His second identity is anybody he chooses.His matter accelerator will convert him to anybody.He can change back to his normal self at will. He also has a nifty Utonic Bolo in his hip.He rarely uses it,though.